Department Casts Gloom Over Army

MUST SPEND THREE YEARS IN ISLANDS

Exceptional Circumstances
Only Will Permit Officers
Leaving Oahu

Gloom, with an upper case G, will be cast over the commissioned personnel of the army on Oahu, when the text of a communication received by General Funston, from the War Department, becomes generally known. For from now on, officers will not be granted leaves of absence unless under extraordinary circumstances, and for grave reasons. Death in the family, the settlement of an estate, or the prospect of great financial loss, are about the only contingencies that can pry an officer off Hawaii for the mainland.

An official communication to this effect reached the department commander today. The ruling is made in compliance with a request from General Funston that the Secretary of War lay down a definite policy to govern the leaves of absence to which army officers serving in Hawaii are entitled. "In Philippines it has been the custom to grant leaves only in exceptional cases, but in Hawaii it has been the custom for officers to take a flying visit to the Coast whenever they could afford it and were entitled to the time. In a number of cases, the officers could not well be spared from their organizations, and finally General Funston wrote to Washington to have a definite policy laid down.

"Officers come here on foreign service, and they are supposed to remain here during their entire tour, except in very unusual circumstances," said General Funston this morning. "If there is any real reason for an officer's presence on the mainland, such as a death in the family, or the settlement of an estate, he will, of course, be given leave if entitled to it, but from now on these leaves will be mighty scarce. However, the new ruling does not apply to officers who have already been granted leaves of absence. They will be allowed to take them.

There is something to be said on the other side of the argument, say army officers, and that is that if a man, unused to the climate, spends two months here, and then takes a couple of months' leave in the states, he will return physically refreshed, and professionally more useful than if he stayed here for his entire tour without a change of climate.

"Officers come here on foreign service, and they are supposed to remain here during their entire tour, except in very unusual circumstances," said General Funston this morning. "If there is any real reason for an officer's presence on the

JAPANESE POPULACE IS ANGERED

Massmeeting Held and Demand Made That Army Be Sent Into China

GOVERNMENT ISSUES A REPORT OF SITUATION

Amicable Settlement Expected Through Efforts of Ambassador Yamaza

(Special Dispatch to the Hawaiian Shimpoo.)

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Riots threaten Tokyo today. The government is apprehensive of the danger to life and property which may follow if the temper of the populace here is not cooled. Angered by what they call the dilatory manner in which the Japanese officials are dealing with the Chinese situation, the feeling against the policy of the government is growing and daring statements were made today by agitators at the mass meeting held in Rikibiya park.

High officials of the government, realizing the seriousness of the situation, decided today to take the people into their confidence and explain fully and without reservation the policy of Japan in the China affair. Consequently, while several thousand Japanese were assembled in mass meetings, and demanding in speeches that an army be sent into China at once to obtain possession of a piece of the country and retain it until China makes retribution for the Nanking affair in which four Japanese soldiers are said to have been summarily shot and killed by the Chinese. Premier Yamamoto was preparing a proclamation to be read to the people.

In this proclamation he made clear

GOVERNOR GIVEN LEAVE

Sails For Mainland Tomorrow Morning

TAKING TRIP ON PLEASURE AND BUSINESS

Anticipates Choice of Successor During His Absence from the Territory

Governor Walter F. Frear leaves for the mainland on the steamship Wilhelms at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. By the same token, this probably is his last day in Hawaii as governor of the territory.

On receiving relative word from Secretary of the Interior Lane this morning, the governor announced definitely his departure and the prospect that when he returns, probably several months hence, he will come home as a private citizen. He apparently deems it likely that his successor will be confirmed, qualified and inaugurated before his return.

"I would like to be present at the inauguration," he said today, "but hope my successor will be confirmed and qualified so soon that I will not be able to get back in time for the ceremony here."

"Have you been called to Washington to discuss the governorship question?" he was asked.

"I have not been called to Washington," was the reply. "The trip is being made at my own suggestion. I wrote the secretary of the interior some time ago, asking for a leave of absence. The letter probably did not reach him until yesterday, and yesterday I called him asking permission to set the date of my departure for tomorrow. The affirmative answer came this morning."

Governor Walter F. Frear, who sails for mainland tomorrow and expects to return a private citizen.

"Yes, I may be called upon to discuss the governorship situation but that, as I have been quoted before, is still 'in nubibus.' I expect to spend several days in California, a part of the time with my parents at Oakland; thence seaward, to Washington, New York and a number of other places, and may be gone several months."

"Are you going on pleasure or business?" was asked.

"Part of both," he said.

"What is the nature of the business?"

"Well, possibly some of it will be private. I may take up the matter of the territorial bond issue, though it may be possible to hold a conference

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY IN

SENATE FORCES THROUGH BIG TARIFF REVISION BILL

Result Foreseen but Opponents of Free-List Products Stick by Guns—Revisionists Have Three Votes to Spare

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—With three votes either way to spare, the Democratic majority in the senate today forced the passage of the general tariff revision bill by a vote of 44 to 37. The result of the vote has been foreseen for some time. The Republican minority voted against the bill.

Philippine Independence Depends on Long Inquiry

(Associated Press Cable)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 9.—Francis Burton Harrison, the new governor-general of the Philippines, sailed today on the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria for Honolulu and the Orient on his way to his new post. Before sailing, Harrison made a statement in which he says that the Wilson administration will make a thorough investigation of the Philippine situation before determining what shall be done regarding independence. This investigation, he predicted, would extend over a year and a half and every phase of the subject will be considered. Harrison will assume office immediately upon reaching Manila, the resignation of W. Cameron Forbes having been made effective on September 1.

Secretary Lane Faints, But Condition Said Not Serious

(Associated Press Cable)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 9.—Secretary of the interior Franklin K. Lane gave serious alarm to his friends here today when he fainted away while on the reviewing stand watching the Oakland parade. Overwork and heart trouble are believed to be contributing causes to his condition, which is not believed to be very serious. His return to Washington will be delayed while he takes a brief respite from work.

MARCONI PLANT TO RUSH WORK FOR JAPAN END

Definite instructions to proceed with construction work of that portion of the wireless plant to provide for connection with Japan, were received today by Engineer N. H. Slaughter, in charge of the establishment of the great Marconi station on this island. This means that there will be no delays in carrying out the original plans for the development of the Koko Head station on a magnitude that will provide for taking in practically all points in trans-Pacific telegraphic business. Operations at the station near Koko Head are proceeding without delay. The erection of buildings and the general layout of the station have reached a point where the observer can understand the large scale on which the plans are being carried out. It is hoped that a large delegation of business men will accept the invitation of the company to inspect the work during the session of the

PRISONERS TO BE DISCHARGED ON MAINLAND

Military prisoners, whose sentence includes dishonorable discharge from the army, will see the last of Oahu before they are given their liberty. The soldiers who are doing time at Fort Ruger prison, will be sent to the mainland for discharge, and both the individuals and the territory will be benefited thereby.

This is the gist of a communication from the War Department just received by the department commander, who recommended some weeks ago that such a plan be adopted. Soon after his arrival here, General Funston made a careful investigation of disciplinary conditions, and came to the conclusion that it was not a good thing to turn ex-soldiers, who had been dishonorably discharged from the army, and who had served a term in prison, loose on the community. It is extremely difficult for these men to get work in so small a place, where their record is known, and it is not a good thing for the territory to have them on its hands. Therefore, the decision to send military prisoners back to San Francisco for discharge, meets with the approval of the parties of both the first and second part.

MARTIN A. CHASE DIES AFTER AN OPERATION

Word was received here today that Martin A. Chase, of Riverside, Cal., died at San Diego August 25, following a serious operation.

Martin Chase came to Honolulu in August, 1911, and during a two-months' stay made many friends, who will learn with sincere regret of his death. He had an unusual and happy faculty of making friends, and his unfailing good nature and generous hospitality are remembered by many Honoluluans who had the good fortune to know him in Hawaii.

He was engaged in the fruit business in Riverside, where his interests were large.

MISSOURI REFINERIES MAKE THREAT TO REMOVE TO CUBA

Situation Now Appears To Be Hopeless for Opponents of Free Sugar

By C. S. ALBERT

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—Slow progress of the pending tariff bill has brought forth no encouraging developments for those who oppose the placing of sugar on the free list. Nothing has occurred to indicate that a sufficient number of Democrats will cooperate with the Republicans at the last minute to make this action impossible. All feeling strong, both above and below the surface, are to the contrary and render the situation apparently hopeless.

The absence of Senator Newlands caused some revival of faith and held out a modicum of encouragement. Senators Thornton and Randall, of Louisiana, promptly brought the matter to an issue. They sent a long telegram to Mr. Newlands at his home in Nevada, asking the pointed question if he had been paired in favor of free sugar with Senator McCumber with his knowledge and consent. Up to this time no reply in any shape or form has been received. The dispatch was ignored entirely by Mr. Newlands. This incident caused a renewal of the dense gloom that had settled down upon the friends of sugar and threatened to permanently remain there.

Advices received here are to the effect that those owning sugar refineries in the vicinity of St. Louis, Missouri, are preparing for removal to Cuba. They have been given a deep cut freight rate. A water and rail figure of 25 cents per hundred pounds has been allowed. This is a reduction of the former rate of 35 cents. The machinery of a sugar mill is estimated at something like 1,500,000 pounds, so the cut is of financial consequence. It is insisted by Senators Thornton and Randall that the sugar mills and plantations of Louisiana are daily being sold by the sheriff and there will be nothing left for transfer to Cuba.

Homespun portieres and hangings, dimity curtains, and rag carpets are soon to adorn the bedroom of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, first lady of the land. These hangings and coverings are coming from two old ladies of Elkin, N. C., whose shuttles and looms have been busy for months spinning and weaving. Their debt to the present week according to news from Elkin, and their handwork will be immediately sent to Washington as a gift to Mrs. Wilson.

The weavers are Miss Caroline McHargue, seventy-four years old, and her sister, Mrs. Martha Walker, seventy-six.

Secretary Daniels has ordered that beginning October 1 enlisted men in the navy may be required to remain in training school, at the discretion of the commandant, four months instead of three, and in some cases they may have to stay as long as six

GOVERNORSHIP SITUATION REMAINS FAR FROM SETTLED

President Wilson Fully Explains to Senator Shafroth His Reason for Nominating Pinkham Following the Refusal of the Democrats of Hawaii to "Get-Together" on a Candidate

By C. S. ALBERT

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—Developments in the Hawaiian governorship continued to come with provoking slowness even after the subject was laid before the president. What at first appeared to be a crisis, soon dwindled into a mere feature of delay. No real progress toward a solution of the problem has been made.

This is explained by a brief recapitulation of facts.

Senator Shafroth, chairman of the committee on Pacific Islands, and Porto Rico, in carrying out his instructions, took over to the White House and laid before President Wilson all communications received in the nature of protests against the confirmation of L. E. Pinkham's nomination to be governor. These included telegrams, letters, affidavits and a bunch of editorials. A majority of these had already reached the president in the nature of copies.

The president then leaned back in his chair and related to Senator Shafroth all the circumstances which induced him to appoint Mr. Pinkham. He told of the wide range among the various factions in Hawaii, making it impossible for the Democrats to unite on a candidate. He had implored them to arrange their differences and unanimously recommend some good party man for the governorship. They remained obdurate and all contended for their respective candidates.

After this situation had become well high intolerable, he explained, Representative Kent of California came along with a compromise suggestion. He presented the name of Mr. Pinkham, strongly endorsed him and said he was acceptable in every way to Secretary Lane of the interior department under whose jurisdiction the position really lies. The president was informed that the appointment of Mr. Pinkham would please a majority of the people in Hawaii and would prove the best

AD CLUB TO TENDER FAREWELL TO FORD

Big doings are anticipated at the luncheon of the Honolulu Ad Club at the Palm cafe at noon tomorrow, when a farewell will be tendered to Alexander Hume Ford, who leaves tomorrow afternoon for an extended trip to the Antipodes.

A large attendance of the "Baby Booster" organization with the "Loud Yell" is anticipated and it is expected that Ford will outline some of his plans for bringing Hawaii before the notice of the dwellers on the other side of the earth.
